VOL. LXI. No. 52. REDWOOD CITY, CALIFORNIA, SATURDAY, MARCH 25, 1922. ESTABLISHED 1859

MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN ENDS WITH 255 C. OF C. MEMBERS

New Constitution and By-Laws Now in Effect---Ballots Mailed For Election of Officers

The totals in the membership and service fund drive for the reorganized chamber of commerce stand at 255 members and $5,400 in the service fund. Several of the teams are in the field working on additional memberships and service fund subscriptions. Everyone is to be given an opportunity to join. Many of the prospects have never been seen, owing to the short period of time that could be devoted to the work of canvassing.

Mr. Blackmore, campaign manager, has turned the work of installation of the organization over to G. M. Still, who has been in Redwood City since Saturday noon. Mr. Blackmore is now conducting a campaign in Ontario, Cal.

The first meeting of the reorganized chamber of commerce was held Thursday evening in the high school auditorium. Combatting the circus and several other meetings, a very good attendance was obtained. The meeting was called primarily for the purpose of adopting a new constitution and by-laws, so that the organization could conform to the plan as laid down in the campaign. The constitution and by-laws as presented to the meeting is the standard type recommended by the American City Bureau and is the same as has been adopted in the majority of communities which have conducted a reorganization campaign.

Prior to the meeting Thursday evening a local committee was appointed by the executive committee to review the constitution and by-laws and make any greatly desired changes, if there should be any. The committee recommended to the meeting that the draft be passed as read to the meeting.

After two readings to the meeting the constitution and by-laws were adopted, all expressing themselves as satisfied. The salient features are the provisions for the referendum, which insures to the membership absolute control of the organization at all times, and the method of electing the board of directors. The constitution and by-laws provide for a board of ten directors to be elected by a secret mail ballot.

Ballots were mailed out to the members Friday morning. The envelopes containing the ballots are very definitely marked so as to prevent duplication and to establish the standing of the voter. The number corresponds to the numbering system used in political elections. The ballot is absolutely secret, no ballot to be opened until the count is made by the election committee in public.

The election committee as appointed by President F. K. Towne at the Thursday meeting is composed of N. C. Cummings, chairman; L. N. Pollard, Carl Beeger, A. G. Esnault, A. G. Jensen, Carl Muller, A. C. Argo, Con Drathman and R. H. K. Smith. The ballots wil be counted for the primary on Tuesday evening, March 28, at 7:30 p. m. in the chamber of commerce office. The public will be welcome.

Following the meeting Thursday night two group meetings were held for the purpose of obtaining the suggestions of the members as to the needs of the community. The usggestions obtained at this meeting and at other group meetings which will be held this coming week wil be used to build the program of work for the organization. Every member is to be given an opportunity to attend one of these group meetings. It will be the duty of every member to attend his group and to give his suggestions to the program.

During the next two weeks Mr. Still will complete the election of a new board of directors, organize the board, build a program of work from the suggestions of the members, organize a members' forum and install a modern chamber of commerce office system.

PLUMBING ORDNANCE SQUEEZED THROUGH AT TRUSTEES' MEETING

E. W. Magruder Called in to Explain Why He Dug a Cesspool Inside City Limits

The board of town trustes held a short meeting last Monday evening at which much routine business was transacted.

All members of the city trustees were present except H. C. Tuchsen.

On complaint of the city plumbing inspector, Con Drathman, E. W. Magruder was haled before the board to explain why he had constructed a cesspool on his property contrary to the city ordinance. Mr. Magruder explained that he had constructed three small cottages on his property. To comply with the building ordinance plumbing had to be installed in the houses. In the absence of a sewer in front of the lots the only alternative was to construct the cesspool. The board at once instructed City Engineer Dimmitt to begin laying a sewer main to the Magruder property. Until this is done the board decided to permit the people residing in the cottages on Harrison street to use the cesspool.

A letter was read from Mayor J. H. Rolph of San Francisco asking the town of Redwood City to adopt an ordinance that will permit the construction of water supply conduits across and along the following streets for use in the Hetch Hetchy project: Wood street, Oak avenue, Wallace street, Roosevelt avenue, Kendall street, Vera avenue, Lowell street, Madison avenue, Myrtle street, Jefferson avenue, Del Ora, Topaz street, Foothill boulevard and Canyon road.

The offer of Bonita Parlor, N. D. G. W., to present another tree to the city to be planted on the civic grounds was accepted with thanks the of the trustees. The matter of securing a suitable location for the tree was left to City Engineer Dimmitt.

The board granted permisison to Mrs. C. H. Graves to improve and remodel a laundry building on Maple street.

The new city plumbing ordinance read at the last meeting was adopted, Trustee McNulty voting no.

The Pacific Gas and Electric Company was granted permisison to erect a pole on Grand street to furnish service to a new resident on that thoroughfare. A permit was also granted the company to contact with the city's poles on Bradford and Steinberger streets and on Edgewood road.

Fred George, assistant fire chief, asked that a four-way coupling be purchased for the fire department to be used when the new chemical engine arrives. Permission was given the fire department to purchase the coupling at a cost not exceeding $100.

A map of "Jefferson Acres," a new subdivision in the western addition, was presented by City Engineer Dimmitt and adopted by the board.

Notice was received from the Western Union Telegraph Company that the poles on Broadway would be removed in a short time.

The ordinance calling an election to vote on the $30,000 bonding proposition for buying the water works was given its final reading and was adopted.

Next Monday evening the board is to meet in special session to take up the matter of the various street improvements that are now being elaborated by the city engineer and the city attorney.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES WILL BE CHOSEN NEXT FRIDAY

There will be three candidates for high school trustee at the election to be held March 31. W. A. Emmett, who has been a member of the Sequoia high school board for over 15 years, will not be a candidate for re-election. Mr. Emmett rarely was absent from a meeting of the board, was invariably on time and took a deep interest in the proceedings. His wise counsel and advice will be missed by the other members of the board. L. P. Behrens, a member of the high school boadr for nearly 20 years and for a long time its president, seeks re-election. Mr. Behrens has always taken an earnest interest in high school affairs, giving his attention and best endeavors to the work required of him as trustee. He is enthusiastic concerning the new building and desires to be re-elected to see it completed and the school in operation before he retires from the board.

James D. Hedge, editor of the Standard, is backed by the alumni of the high school for election. For a long time the alumni have desired to have a representative on the board of trustees. The members will work hard to that end and will make a spirited campaign to win.

L. H. Brown of Runnymede is also a candidate for one of the trusteeships. He is secretary of the Runnymede grammar school district. That locality wants a representative on the board and will put up a stiff campaign in his behalf. There are two to be elected.

L. P. Behrens, now represens the Redwood City district. James D. Hedge is candidate of the alumni to cover the entire field, D. E. O'Keefe represents Menlo Park district, which includes Runnymede, and now comes Mr. Brown asking your support. Mr. Brown is a fine gentleman who operates a business in Palo Alto; but since Mr. O'Keefe represents that district the voters should cast their ballots for Mr. Behrens, who has given his best efforts in years past and has always guarded the taxpayers' interests. Some considerable credit must be given for the purchase of the Pissis property, upon which our new high school is to be erected and which is hoped to be started within the next sixty days, and he should be returned to the board, as he is a business man and will see that the best building that is possible to be had for the $300,000 just voted by the people erected. Then James D. Hedge should receive your votes, as he is a splendid young man and the choice of the alumni. So be sure to put your crosses opposite the two names. Failure to do this means a vote for Mr. Brown.

PASSING OF EARLY PIONEER

By Alice Williston

The death of Mrs. J. C. Edgar in San Francisco March 15 closes the career of one of the earliest settlers in Redwood City. With her mother, brother and sister she came across the Isthmus of Panama on muleback in 1852, when she was 8 years old. The father, J. C. McLeod, a shipbuilder, had made a home for his family in Redwood and upon their arrival they were the first white children to settle in the community. She lived in Redwood until her parents moved to Vallejo in 1863, returning in 1868 as the bride of John C. Edgar. For many years her home remained in Redwood, where her husband held promihent positions, including those of tax collector and sheriff, being elected to the latter office three times. Later, with her husband and son, she moved to San Quentin, where Mr. Edgar was captain of the yard and warden, resigning in 1907 on account of a serious illnes which caused his death in 1908. She left to mourn her passing one son, Joseph Edgar of San Francisco; two grandchildren, Doris Janet and John C. Edgar! two sisters, Mrs. S. E. Williston of San Jose and Mrs. Belle Van Doren of San Francisco.

SUICIDE OF DR. J. E. CHAPIN AT HIS OFFICE YESTERDAY

Well Known Physician Shoots Himself Apparently Had no Cause For Ending Life

Seated in the inner chamber of his office in the Drew building on Broadway Dr. J. E. Chapin, one of the best known physicians and surgeons on the peninsula, ended his life yesterday at a little after 11 o'clock by shooting himself through the head. Death was instantaneous. Mrs. Margaret Hand, the office nurse, returning after making a purchase of medicine at a local drug store, found the body of the doctor seated in a chair with the pistol near him on the floor. She at once summoned Dr. Dykes and the deputy coroner, John Layng. Both arrived at the same time. Dr. Dykes lifted the body to the operating table, assisted by Layng. It was at once seen that the doctor was dead.

In a short time the news of the suicide had spread and in a few minutes the office was crowded with friends of the deceased.

An examination of the wound showed that the doctor had placed the reciver back of his right ear, pulling the trigger. The bullet plowed along the base of the brain, through the head and landed on the wall close by, leaving a gaping wound over an inch wide. Blood flowed profusely from the ears, covering the floor with the fluid. After a cursory examination the remains were removed to the Redwood City undetraking parlors where they now are.

The relatives and friends of the dead man cannot attribute any cause for the rash act. It is believed that the act was committed while the doctor was suffering from a temporary mental aberration. The doctor enjoyed a lucrative practice and was doing well in his profession and there appears to be no reason why he should have taken his life. He had everything in life to live for.

The last man the doctor spoke to was John Euritt, assitant superintendent of streets of Redwood City. He was going into the office and he yelled, "Goodbye, John," showing that posisbly the suicide was premeditated. A few minutes later the shot rang out and was heard by the other people in the building, but few paid any attention to the noise.

The gun used was a 44-caliber Remington revolver of unusual size and for some time owned by the doctor who had it in his office.

Dr. Dykes said that after the shot was fired Dr. Chapin did not survive more than a few seconds.

Dr. Chapin lived happily with his wife and six children at his home at 114 Elwood street in Redwood Highlands. His daughter only a few days ago gave a party at the cozy home to her girl friends. Only Thursday afternoon the doctor accompanied his children to the circus and appeared to enjoy the performance and was in the best of spirits.

Dr. J. E. Chapin was a skillful physician, a clever surgeon and one of the leaders in his profession in San Mateo county. During the influenza epidemic in 1918 he worked night any, saving many lives by his wonderful skill and attention. He appeared to understand the dreaded disease and did not lose a patient, though having treated hundreds.

Dr. Chapin was a native of Auburn, Placer county. After graduating from Stanford University he went east, entering Washington University, Chicago, where he graduated from the medical department with honors. He also was a graduate of the Boston School of Technology. For a number of years he practiced his profesison with success in St. Louis and for a time was connected with the large hospitals there. The doctor came to Redwood City nine years ago and during the years since built up a large practice.

He was chief surgeon for the Quinnevere Hospital, Washington street, and was also physician for the Foresters and Eagles. Besides these societies he was a member of the Native Sons, Red Men, Odd Fellows, Fraternal Aid Union, Woodmen of County Medical Association.

Dr. Chapin was 52 years old but looked much younger. He was well liked by the medical fraternity and was a member of the San Mateo Medical Association.

He is survived by his widow and six children, the oldst, a daughter, being only 17 years old.

A pathetic scene occurred when his little children rushed to the office after the dismissal of school just before the noon hour to greet their father as it was their custom to do each day. Kindly ladies among the people in the office prevented the children from entering the death room, thus saving them from the horrible sight they would have witnessed. They were taken home, where they were later informed of the sad and tragic death of their beloved parent.

Mrs. Chapin is almost inconsolable in her sad bereavement. Kind friends are doing all they can to alleviate the mental sufferings she is experiencing. The family has the sympathy of the entire community in its affliction.

No arrangements have yet been made for the funeral. Coroner W. A. Brooke will hold the inquest this morning.

LILLIAN HOFFMAN BEGINS DIVORCE PROCEEDINGS

The Hoffmans were married in San Francisco in 1915 and separated on February 22, 1922. The plaintiff asks for alimony in the sum of $50 a month, $150 attorney fees and $25 costs. Hoffman earns $100 a month. They have no children.

CHANGE MANAGEMENT

The outstanding feature of the discussions over the final disposition of the Muscle Shoals property is the resolution of all concerned to turn the projetc back to private management. Government operation of the plant is not to be thought of, despite the fact that a bill has been introduced into the senate providing for a federal corporation for that purpose. One thing that the Harding administration has put the ban upon is further ventures of the government into the realm of private enterprise. The railroads have been turned back to their owners, the government owned merchant marine is being rapidly disposed of to private purchasers, scores of industrial plants built or otherwise acquired during the war are being sold to the highest bidder and now Muscle Shoals is to be divested of its federal ownership.

THE SENATE TREATY PROGRAM

The debates now in progress in the senate mark the concluding chapters of one of the most momentous incidents in the history of the country. Preliminary votes indicate that all of the eight treaties which emanated from the armaments conference will be ratified by substantial majorities, but the debates have developed a determined opposition to some of them. There is given herewith a brief outline of each undertaking in order that the reader may see for himself the scope of the treaties and judge of their influence on the future of the United States and of the world.

1. A treaty between the United States, the British empire, France, Italy and Japan, limiting naval armaments. The future capital ship tonnage of those countries shall be: United States, 525,000; British Empire, 525,000; Japan, 315,000; Italy, 175,000; France, 175,000. No ship exceeding 35,000 tons shall be built. Aircraft carrier tonnage: United States, 135,000; British Empire, 135,000; Japan, 81,000; France and Italy, 60,000. No aircraft carrier exceeding 27,000 tons shall be built. The treaty specifies the ships to be scrapped by each power, the method of scrapping and the size and number of guns of those retained. The treaty is to remain in force until December 31, 1936, and shall continue in force unless one of the parties gives two years' notice of its termination.

2. A treaty between the United States, the British Empire, France, Italy and Japan limiting the use of submarines and poison gas in war.

3. A treaty between the United States, the British Empire, France and Japan relating to their insular possessions in the Pacific. This is the so-called "Four Power Pact." It provides that if a controversy arises between any of the parties the others shall be called in for a joint conference. If the Pacific rights of either are threatened by any other power the four countries shall consider what joint action they may take to meet the emergency. The treaty is to remain in force for ten years.

4. A declaration accompanying the four power treaty to the effect that it shall include the mandated islands in the Pacific, but shall not be deemed an assent on the part of the United States to these mandates; also excluding domestic questions from the effect of the treaty.

5. A treaty supplemental to the four power treaty excluding the main islands of the Japanese Empire from its influence.

6. A treaty between the United States, Belgium, the British Empire, China, France, Italy, Japan, the Netherlands and Portugal relating to principles and policies to be followed in matters concerning China. The treaty reaffirs the open door policy in China. It respects the sovereignty and territorial integrity of China, gives that country the fullest opportunity to develop, pledges equal opportunity for the commerce of all nations in China and agrees not to take advantage of conditions in China in order to seek special rights. The treaty gives details as to how these principles shall be observed.

7. A treaty between the United States, Belgium, the British Empire, China, France, Italy, Japan, the Netherlands and Portugal undertaking to increase the revenues of China by making effective a 5 per cent ad valorem customs duty.

8. A treaty between the United States and Japan preserving American rights in the island of Yap, including cable privileges. Ratified by the senate on March 1 by a vote of 67 to 22.

JAPS, TAKE NOTICE!

The Nippon Yusen Kaisha, the principal Japanese steamship line in the Pacific, announces that four 10,000-ton steamers running to Seattle are to be replaced by four 6,000-ton ships. At the same time passenger fares are to be cut approximately 30 per cent. Thechang proximately 30 per cent. These changes are significant of the effects of American competition in the Pacific carrying trade.

COMPLIMENTS FROM OUR CONTEMPORARIES

Editor Appointed Port Appraiser

Editor D. E. O'Keefe of the Times-Gazette, Redwood City, has been appointed assitant U. S. appraiser for the port of San Francisco. The appointment was recommended some weeks ago by Senator S. M. Shortridge and was confirmed a few days ago by the U. S. senate, according to press dispatches.

O'Keefe has been an editor of this county for many years and has always been a loyal Republican. He is a brother of Attorney James T. O'Keefe of Redwood City, where the O'Keefe family has been prominent for nearly half a century. The appointee is a neighbor and personal friend of Senator Shortridge.

Editor O'Keefe has not announced whether he will retire from newspaper business or not, but it is stated that he will continue to guide the destinines of his paper through the medium of an editorial manager. —Burlingame Advance.

Nomination of O'Keefe as Appraiser Confirmed by United States Senate.

Dennis E. O'Keefe, publisher of the Redwood City Times-Gazette, yesterday received a telegram from Senator Samuel M. Shortridge informing him that his nomination to be assitant appraiser of the port of San Francisco had been confirmed, Senator Shortridge added his congratulations and best wishes and stated that O'Keefe's commission would be sent out shortly.

O'Keefe was many years ago in the customs service and will not be entirely unfamiliar with the work he will take up. He will be assistant to Bert Kahn, brother of Congressman Julius Kahn, the other assistant appraiser being Jacob Shaen of San Francisco. The new assistant appraiser has been one of the strongest supporters of Senator Shortridge in the state of California, both in his successful campaign against United States Senator James D. Phelan and in his former unsuccessful campaign. He has always been a staunch Republican.—San Mateo News-Leader.

Redwood Newspaper Man Gets Political Berth

D. E. O'Keefe, editor of the Times-Gazette in this city, received a telegram last Friday from Senator S. M. Shortridge announcing the confirmation of the nomination of the former as assistant appraiser of merchandise at the custom house in San Francisco. The appointment comes as a reward to the newspaper man for his many years of faithful service and work in the interest of the Republican party in San Mateo County. O'Keefe was an ardent supporter of Shortridge in the 1920 campaign when the latter defeated James D. Phelan in a close fight. O'Keefe will begin his new duties on the first of April.—Redwood City Standard.

Editor O'Keefe Will Assume Federal Duties

Editor D. E. O'Keefe of the Redwood City Times-Gazette will assume his duties as assistant appraiser of merchandise at San Francisco on April 1. O'Keefe was nominated for the federal position by President Harding several weeks ago and his appointment was confirmed by the senate last week. He will be associated in the conduct of the appraiser's office in San Francisco with Bert Kahn and Jake Shaen, both of whom take the oath of office with O'Keefe on Saturday, April 1.

The appointment of Editor O'Keefe is in recognition of years of faithful service to the Republican cause. He has been unfalteringly loyal to his party as editor and as citizen and his appointment meets with general approval of not only all active Republicans of the county but of those high in the councils of the party in the state.

O'Keefe has been editor and owner of the Times-Gazette for 25 years and has made his paper an important factor in his community. He is a resident of Menlo Park and a lifelong friend of Senator Samuel M. Shortridge.—San Mateo Times.

COST OF RHINE ARMY

A demand has been presented to the allied finance ministers by the United States that the expenses of the American army of occupation on the Rhine must be paid before the next reparations payment by Germany is divided among the allied claimants. The debt now amounts to $241,000,444 and there is soon to be received from Germany 800,000,000 gold marks. Inasmuch as the United States does not share in the reparations at all, it is considered by Secretary Hughes that the American bill should receive prompt attention. It is disclosed that before the receipt of the American demand the reparations installment had already been tentatively divided with no reference whatever to the claim from this country. France was to receive 52 per cent and Great Britain 22 per cent.

RATIFY, SAYS SHORTRIDGE

Senator Samuel M. Shortridge delivered a powerful speech in the senate on Thursday in behalf of the ratification of the four power Pacific treaty which is now before the senate for debate. Mr. Shortridge had the attention of all the solons in the delivery of his splendid speech. It was declared by those who heard it to be one of the ablest arguments for ratification. Mr. Shortirdge declared the senate debate might "lead one to suppose we were at war, marshaling our resources to strike Japan or Great Britain."

The treaty, Senator Shortridge said, "would not strip the nation of of any sovereign power." Any treaty which attempted to deprive congress of the war making power, he said, would be void.

KNOCKING OR BOOSTING

The Fresno Republican, formerly owned by Chester Rowell, in its issue of March 11 has an editorial intended as a slam at Samuel M. Shortridge, Jr., but in truth it is a decided boost which admits the young man's ability and prominence in the state. The Republican says:

"We have two occurrences in the last day or two that seem to throw light on the waves of popular feeling on the subject of prohibition as a feature of constitutional law in the United States and on the question of prohibition enforcement.

"On the one hand we have Samuel Shortridge, Jr., in California, resigning from a position on the legal staff of prohibition enforcement in California to accept a retainer for the wets. And incidentally, we presume, to earning his fee, Mr. Shortridge issues a statement that prohibition is impossible in California.

"On the other hand we have the legislature of the state of New Jersey ratifying the 18th amendment to the Ameirean constitution, prohibiting the manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors.

"New Jersey was one of three states only that had failed to ratify this amendment when it legally went into effect on January 16, 1920. When Nebraska became the 36th state to approve on January 16, 1919, the amendment was adopted. By its terms the amendment was to go into effect in one year's time. During the year nine more states approved, bringing the total up to 45 out of 48. The three left—New Jersey, Rhode Island and Connecticut—had no need to approve or disapprove, except as an expression of sentiment. All were supposed to be the strongholds of wet sentiment. Connecticut and Rhode Island have not ratified.

"But that the legislature of New Jersey, nearly as metropolitan a state as New York, should at this time have decided to show its position on the prohibition issue by formally ratifying, is significant. We can easily offset its significance against Samuel Shortridge Jr.'s retainer."

AT ODDS

One evidence of the soundness of the four power pact is that the former friends of the league of nations are divided on the issue. Former President Wilson is said to be hostile to the treaty, while the league to enforce peace is urging its ratification.

WANTS BIG PAY FOR LOSS OF FOUR HEIFERS

H. R. Fee has brought an action in the superior court against James Pitt and his wife to recover damages in the sum of $825 for the loss of four heifers. They were valued at $100 each. Fee asks $825 for the loss of the stock.

CONTRACT AWARDED

A contract for the construction of a bank building in Halfmoon Bay was awarded Wednesday by Horace Nelson to Ward & Jones. The cost is to be $12,000.

Proceedings of the Board of Supervisors

The proposed Washington sanitary district troubles were brought to the attention of the supervisors at their meeting Monday when Lee T. Ross presented a protest from W. W. Stettheimer and others to the effect that the petition presented to the supervisors on February 6, asking that an election be held for the formation of the district, was not in accord with the provisions of the statutes because it did not contain signatures of 25 persons who are freeholders of the district. Mr. Ross presented an affidavit to the effect that only nine freeholders had put their names on the petition. The supervisors were requested to rescind their previous action ordering an election for April 1. The district attorney was called on for advice and told the supervisors that if they had received information that the petition was not in accord with the law they had the right to rescind their former action. After discussion it was decided to call all parties for another hearing on March 27.

A new petition was then presented by the supporters of the Fair Oaks district proposition. This will be considered at the meeting March 27.

The contract for repairing and ersurfacing the road from Pescadero to the Santa Cruz county line was awarded to the California Construction Company for $43,500. There were four other bidders.

After plans for the steam heating, ventilating and other features for the county hospital had been presented by the architect and approved by the board it was ordered that bids be asked. They are to be opened on April 17. The name for the new institution was selected as "Community Hospital of San Mateo County." F. W. Lippman of Redwood City suggested several other names in a letter to the board.

John Adams presented a protest against the closing of Frank's lane, thus cutting off a number of homes from access to the highway. Supervisor MacBain explained that the street had been rejected by the supervisors many years ago and that the owner was within his rights in closing it, so the board could not afford any relief.

A petition for a new light at Brattle street, Menlo Park, was referred to the district attorney.

Supervisor Hickey reported an offer of $105 for the motorcycle now used by the traffic officer in the first townhsip; that it would cost $395 more for a new machine. The supervisors will consider the matter at the next meeting.

The county surveyor presented a detailed report on the route of the east side highway, together with estimated costs.

A report on the sanitary district election recently held at Halfmoon Bay showed that the proposition was beaten by a vote of 36 for to 101 in opposition.

Claims of Ray Griffin for $12 expended for registered letters in the small claims court, and J. J. Shields for expenses to the county auditors' convention were reported favorably by the district attorney and allowed by the board.

HOW the cost of building quality tires has been brought down to the lowest level in history was explained by H. S. Firestone, President of the Company, to the stockholders at the annual meeting on December 15, 1921.

1. All inventories and commitments at or below the market.
2. Increased manufacturing efficiency and volume production reduced factory overhead 58%.
3. Selling costs reduced 38%.

Mr. Firestone stated, "This reduction in prices is made possible by our unusually advantageous buying facilities, and the enthusiasm, loyalty and determination of our 100% stockholding organization.

"Due credit must be given to Firestone dealers who are selling Firestone tires on a smaller margin of profit. This brings every Firestone saving direct to the car-owner."

The saving through first cost plus the saving through high mileage doubles Firestone economy and is daily adding new fame to the Firestone principle of service—

Fox Goes on Wild Goose Chase

By CLAUDE FOX

Story No. 48

It is almost impossible for any of the devotees of the rod and line who follow the pleasurable pastime of the immortal Isaac Walton to exhibit a string of the speckled beauties and dwell in ecstacies over how each one was hooked, to conclude the story without impressing on the minds of listeners how the biggest fish snagged the line on an unfriendly root and got away. So it is with wild duck shooting. No matter how much experience one has or how proficient you may become in the handling of a shotgun, there is always that little "if" cropping up, which not only spoils a good chance at the webfoots but very often is cause of a splendid opportunity hopelessly lost. In the parlance of the duck hunting fraternity such an occurrence is called a "fluke," and during my duck hunting career and that of my companions there were many occasions when regrets were our only solace simply because that little word cropped up at an inopportune time and we failed to do the right thing just at the proper moment. No hunter cares to look back on these "flukes" with any degree of pleasure, but, like the biggest fish that got away, those ducks that we should have killed are an interesting item to complete stories, which without them would be but half written.

Now Fred Stalter and myself had heard, from just whom I do not now remember, that if you succeeded in killing the old gander leader of a flock of geese the rest of the birds would follow him to the ground and sit around as mourners over his remains until we would be able to get the whole flock. It is a very plausible story to listen to, when told by an older sportsman, but believe me when you try the theoretical part of it out as we did once down in the Cooley field, the practical demonstration will furnish you a mild surprise and you will at once conclude that the man who spun such a yarn is a full brother to the one who would take you out snipe hunting on a dark night and leave you standing in the mud flats with an open grain sack and lantern, while he herded the flocks of willets and ring necks into the receptacle which you held.

The Cooley field used to be a favorite resort for the honkers. At night time they made their headquarters out on the small creek between Billy Carnduff's place and the bay shore, but at the first peep of dawn they were off to the grain fields, where they feasted, if undisturbed, until 10 o'clock, and then left again for the marshes. About 4 in the afternoon you could see them returning for their supper. Fred and myself had been down on the bay shore at Ravenswood one day shooting the widgeon as the flood tide drove them off the mud flats and on coming up into the field in the afternoon noted the flight of the honkers for their evening meal. We paid particular attention to the fact that they came in quite low and crossed the old point where a ditch or depression in the field spread out into the marshland. Marking the spot well we decided to come down the next morning, arrive there before daybreak, conceal ourselves in the coarse crinkly grass at the edge of the marsh and annihilate at least one flock of the Canada geese. We were going to get the leader of the flock as they came in and then see how much truth there was in the theory which had been expounded to us.

We were both endowed with ordinary common sense, or at least we thought we were, but upon looking backward, after the demonstration we made that morning and the "fluke" we pulled off on that flock of geese, I have always had my serious doubts as to whether we had yet arrived at that age of discretion when it would have been impossible for us to have listened with deep interest to the sack and lantern method of acquiring a good bag of snipe.

At 2 o'clock the next morning we climbed over the fence back of the old jail and were off again for a ten-mile hike. We should have been resting up after our strenuous trip of the day before, but we wanted to get a crack at those honkers before scmeone else had demonstrated a theory that had appealed to us. The frost covered ground crackled under our feet as we walked along, but the cold December morning had no terrors for us on such a mission. Fully an hour before the first streaks of dawn appeared in the eastern sky we had reached our destination, found the place we had distinctly marked the day before, had prepared our places of concealment out of the marsh grass, which resembled two shallow graves, and were stamping up and down, clapping our hands together to prevent our fingers becoming benumbed ere daylight broke and the fateful time arrived for us to begin that honker massacre.

Our arrangements were most complete. Two places had been prepared in which we were to lie, both facing about northeast, 12 feet apart, one below the other, so we would in no case shoot over each other's heads. I was to occupy the lower place and my partner the upper. We lay so that we would face the direction from which we knew the flock would come and to me was given the honor of picking out the leader, while Fred would shoot about the middle of the flock. It was imperative, of course, that I should get the wise old gander at the first shot in order to successfully demonstrate the theory which I must admit we had some hopes would prove true. How bitterly disapointed we were and what a "fluke" we did make that morning out of that flock of grand old birds! As I look backward and think of how we had them at our mercy, what we should have done and what I could do to a flock today under similar circumstances, with my friend George Genochio's pump Winchester in my hands, my heart goes out in pity to the Isaac Walton of today who invariably permits that largest trout to snag himself and get away.

The flush of dawn at last came, that grand time of the day when nature awakens while humanity sleeps. Lighter it became as the crimson overspread the sky and still no warning note. It was half daylight; we were each in our respective places, covered by the cold, frosty grass. All at once from out toward the bay came that note which made our hearts beat faster. Both knew well what it meant. The honker does not wait till broad dayligh for its breakfast. It was the call of the old gander leader of the flock to get ready. Nerves were strung up to a high pitch. They would soon come, and while we half sat up leaning on one elbow, straining our eyes in the light of another day, a heavy black line appeared in the eastward, low down and coming directly toward us.

"They're coming," we both whispered, and sure enough they were, about 25 of the noble birds. They were not over 20 feet high and were heading so they would pass 25 yards to our left, which was just what we wanted, as we both shot righthanded. There was little time to do much thinking before they were almost to us. Their deep notes of call were sweet music on that chilly morning air. We lay with our heads just reclining sufficiently to permit us to follow the course of their flight. They came on without a thought of danger. When almost opposite to me I called out:

"Get ready, Fred!"

"Give it to them!" he replied.

Already my eye was trained along the rib of my double barrel Scott gun as I raised it slightly, took aim at the leader and pressed the trigger. Down he came like a rock into the edge of the stubble field. The balance never even flared or raised, but went on their way as though nothing had happened. Three more shots we drove into them and not a feather dropped. We should have had four of those honkers beyond any question. Why we misesd I never could understand. True we got the leader, but the flock did not follow him down. The theory was exploded and Fred and I had many a laugh afterward while hunting together and pleasant memories of a ten-mile hike for which we were only rewarded by a 12-pound Canada goose when we should have had four.

Cleaning Without Odor by the F. Thomas Process

Our many years of experience has taught us that it is impossible to do perfect cleaning with cheap, inferior methods. That is why we found it necessary to invest nearly $500,000 in the equipment of a plant and the establishment of an expert organization to do the quality of work demanded by our customers.

With the "F. Thomas Process" we not only remove every particle of dust and dirt but we return your garments without that usual disagreeable smell of gasoline. Every drop of gasoline we use in cleaning is redistilled and very mhighly refined.

Raw gasoline—the kind that you buy for your automobile, is full of heavy oils and unfit for cleaning fabrics. It is little better than ordinary distillate and leaves a sickening "gasoline" smell in your clothes.

Our equipment to redistill and purify our cleaning fluids alone represents a bigger investment than many cleaners have in their entire plant. That is why our work has no odor.

MENLO PARK NEWS

Last Monday, March 13, the stork left a bouncing baby boy at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Maloney, No. 3 Pine street.

The rainfall for the season has been 15.50 inches. The rainfall last year at this time had been 17.34 inches.

George Angus, who has been chief gardener for the J. Henry Meyer estate for a long time, has resigned his position. Mr. and Mrs. Angus have opened their cottage on Oak Grove avenue. Mrs. Angus is an enthusiastic church worker. Her many friends are rejoicing on her return to Menlo Park.

John J. Doyle has bought the Palm Hotel property, which includes the vacant lot adjoining the hotel building, from the Lenehan estate. Mrs. Doyle is one of the heirs. It is said the sum of $7,500 was paid for the holdings. Mr. Doyle has begun already to develop the property. The buildings are to be painted and the interiors remodeled and some additions made to them.

This afternoon at 2:30 o'clock a two-reel film depicting the famous picture, "Winners of the West," will be shown in the Menlo Park Theater free of charge. This is a historical picture that should be seen by all. It is a story of the early days of California when Captain Fremont, after whom Camp Fremont was named, made his appearance in the west. The show is exclusively for children and tickets in advance may be secured from W. J. Murray or William Meyer at the Safety Electric Shop. All the children are urged to secure tickets in advance to avoid confusion. Beginning Saturday afternoon and evening and until the 18 reels have been shown, "Winners of the West" will be seen at all the regular dates. This interesting serial should be seen by all lovers of the early history of the Golden State.

St. Patrick's Day was observed by the Irish residents of this place by a theater party in the Menlo Park Theater last evening. An appropriate program was enjoyed.

Mark A. McCann sold two parcels of land in Paraiso Park during the week. Two modern bungalows will be erected on the property at once. One of the purchasers is a well-known San Francisco contractor and builder.

John Tuttle, local agent for the American Railway Express, is very happy these days. On Monday he received a letter from the superintendent of the company notifying him that he had a rating of 100 per cent for efficiency and for the manner in which he has been conducting the office for the past year. This speaks well for the local agent.

The famous thoroughbred Palo Alto, owned by Jasper W. Paulsen of the College City, has been leased for a term of five years to A. K. McCumber, the noted turfman. Mr. Paulsen is to receive $5,000. The famous stallion will be taken the McCumber racing stables at San Jose. A son of Palo Alto has been entered in the English Derby for next year. Big things are expected of the colt.

Mrs. Charles Coxin and daughter, Meta, have taken the Ward premises on Oak Grove avenue adjoining the Trinity Episcopal church. They will move in today. The home was recently vacated by David Roche, who moved to Hollister with his daughter, Mrs. J. Briggs.

Mrs. J. B. Lynch is here from Reno, Nev., to be at the bedside of her sister-in-law, Mrs. F. P. Roach.

Conditional on temporary service being provided for consumers dependent on the system, J. H. Stubbe has been authorized by the state railroad commission to discontinue service of water in Ravenswood subdivision. The commission found that the supply of water is not sufficient for applicants' needs and that the revenue Stubbe has derived from the sale of water has not paid operating expenses.

The many friends of Mrs. F. P. Roach will be pleased to learn that she is recovering from her recent serious illness and will soon be convalescent. Her sickness has caused her family much alarm.

Earl Douglass, young son of Leon Douglass of this place, was injured in an automobile accident at San Bruno Wednesday night. The big car he was driving toward San Francisco skidded on the wet pavement and plunged into a big auto bus. Douglass, who was thrown out of the car, was badly bruised about the head and had his face severely cut. According to Douglass, he was driving toward San Francisco with Wilkins as a passenger when a car without a rear light loomed up ahead. In turning sharply to avoid hitting this other machine, his own car skidded and crashed into the auto stage, coming from the opposite direction.

Some boys go to college and break records while others are merely content to break their fathers.

Judged by newspaper reports some of the movie actors are called stars chiefly because they stay out nights.

Proceedings of the Board of Supervisors

At the meeting of the county supervisors Monday morning C. M. Hirschey, chief of the fire department at Hillsborough, accompanied by Frank C. Stone of San Francisco, presented a request that the supervisors assist in welcoming the fire chiefs' convention to be held in San Francisco next August. Chairman Thompson appointed the entire board as a committe to act in the matter.

W. H. Toepke, architect for the new county hospital, made a report showing the balance in the fund to be $187,007.43, the amount paid to contractors $71,718.21, leaving a balance of $144,435.79 to complete the contracts. After paying those bills and the architect's fee and superintendent's salary there will be a balance of approximately $37,571.61 in the fund. He estimates the sums needed for adidtional contracts to complete the building as follows: Elevator, $4,000; painting, $6,500; completing radiator system, $31,000; hardware, $4,800; additional fees, etc., $1,500; total $47,800. With the balance of $37,571.61 only $10,228.39 would be required to complete the building. His estimate of the amount necessary to equip the hospital and to provide water, gas and sewer outlets is given as $54,800.

The hospital will be ready for the equipment about September 1, according to Toepke. In reply to a question by Hickey the architect said the cost of construction at the time of the awarding of contracts last year and at the present was very slight. Mr. Toepke was instructed to have the plans ready at the next meeting for the completion of the heating and ventilating plant.

On recommendation of the social service commisison the supervisors appointed the following members: John MacBain, Menlo Park; Mrs. C. M. Wood, Atherton; Mrs. C. E. Peck, South San Francisco; Mrs. S. D. Merk, Burlingame; Mrs. A. J. Pattison, San Mateo.

W. G. Loomis of 221 Clark drive, San Mateo Park, sent in a complaint about the sewer in front of his residence. The clerk was instructed to inform him that the mater should be handled by the city of San Mateo.

San Carlos residents asked assistance from the supervisors in the formation of an improvement district. The petition was refused for the reason that it is outside the jurisdiction of the supervisors.

Ray Griffin put in a bill for $12 for registered letters sent out in connection with the small claims court and the matter was referred to the district attorney.

Several bridge inspections were ordered and some minor road repairs authorized.

The regular monthly claims as approved by the finance committee were ordered paid.

SAN QUENTIN GETS NEW GUESTS

Their partner in crime, Jack O'Keefe, was sent to the state prison a short time ago. Another of the gang was admitted to probation last January.

Many a man thinks he knows what's what wose name doesn't appear in "Who's Who."

SEQUOIA THEATRE
ON BROADWAY

"MORAN OF THE LADY LETTY"

A dance on board the second finest yacht on the Pacific coast—scenes at a fashionable afternoon tea in San Francisco; a grand ball at a magnificent hotel—these are some of the scenes in "Moran of the Lady Betty," produced by George Melford for Paramount and to be shown at the Sequoia theater next Monday and Tuesday, March 27 and 28, which, while essentially a sea story, is nevertheless possessed by features quite foreign to th sea.

It is at the afternoon tea that the spectator first sees Rudolph Valentino, leading man, and learns that he is bored to extinction by the shallowness of society life. Later he is shanghaied while en route to a dance aboard the yacht and meets for the first time Moran, an elemental girl who dresses like a man and commands a ship. This role is played by Dorothy Dalton, who is featured in the picture.

Again, at the close of the picture, there is the magnificent array of fashion in the hotel scenes.

No. 7 — dominant features of California's largest bank. Number Seven of a series

—serving an entire state with metropolitan banking facilities

(Made possible by large banking resources)

To serve not merely a single community, but practically the whole state of California, is the unique and highly esteemed privilege of the Bank of Italy.

No state in the Union affords such an opportunity for a great branch banking system. This is due to the great area of California and the wide diversity of its resources.

California is virtually an empire. It is so resourceful that it has been said that its people could "wall out" the rest of the world and still live in comfort.

The Bank of Italy with its large banking capital is enabled to constructively finance the diversified industries of this great commonwealth.
